

ETF Global® Portfolio Challenge - Student Ambassador Program

Re: John Q. Student, University of XYZ

We are proud to provide this letter of recommendation and confirmation that, during the Spring 2017 semester, John Q. Student successfully served as the Student Ambassador for the University of XYZ for our worldwide, collegiate investment competition entitled the ETF Global® Portfolio Challenge.

The ETF Global Portfolio Challenge is a simulated, semester-long investment challenge open to all undergraduate and graduate students worldwide. Since its inception in the Fall of 2015, the competition has expanded its presence to over 300 universities on 6 continents. The meteoric growth of this competition is thanks in large part to the invaluable contributions of our campus representatives, like John, who have helped raise awareness, educate participants and drive participation at universities across the globe.

Through the engagement of students, faculty members and school organizations, John made a discernable impact as a Student Ambassador. Moreover, John demonstrated the ability to carry out these assigned responsibilities at times both independently and in collaboration with our team.

These elements of leadership in part have made John a successful Student Ambassador and we feel will these traits will continue to help John thrive in his professional career.
