

ETF Issuer Public Disclosure Data U.S. Listed - 2022

ETF Global[®] is a leading, independent provider of Exchange-Traded Fund Reference Data, which is primarily sourced directly from fund sponsors, custodians, distributors and administrators.

Dataset Overview

The ETF Global[®] ETF Issuer Public Disclosure Dataset is a turnkey solution to satisfy the disclosure requirements from the SEC's recently enacted ETF Rule. This dataset consists of two, daily data files dedicated to the Fund level and Constituent level, respectively.

The SEC Rule 6c-11, passed on September 25, 2019, now requires every ETF Issuer to disclose the following unique data points, on a free and publicly available website, each business day before the opening of trading:

- Each portfolio holding (ticker symbol, identifier, description, quantity and percentage weight)
- The ETF's NAV, market closing price and premium/discount, as of the prior business day
- The ETF's median bid-ask spread during the last 30 calendar days
- A table and line graph for the number of days the ETF's shares traded at a premium or discount during last calendar year and during the most recently completed calendar quarter
- If the ETF's premium or discount has been greater than 2% for seven consecutive trading days, provide a discussion of the factors that may have materially contributed to it

ETF Global delivers these data points and much more daily via FTP, SFTP, API & S3.
